

Dear Friends
 I never cease to be overwhelmed by the journey from Palm Sunday to Easter Day and the way in which every possible human emotion is there. I am with the crowds as they shout Hosanna to the King, I am with the disciples in that fateful meal, a friend of Jesus, wondering whether betrayal denial or simply abandonment is to be my lot. I am with them as they fall asleep, exhausted by anguish. I am there with the crowds who cry "crucify him", with the soldiers who hammer in the nails. I am there with the women who stand far off, I am there with his mother Mary wondering what greater anguish there can be than watching one's child die. I am there in the emptiness of Holy Saturday. Jesus is dead. Where is hope? Where is life? Then, in the darkness of night something happens, light and truth and love and hope and joy are reborn. The Easter Candle is brought into the darkened church and the light is spread. Christ is risen. Darkness and despair are no more. Now I can be with Mary Magdalen in the garden, addressed by name by the risen Christ. I pray that you may all hear the risen Christ calling you by name and filling you with Easter joy.
 with my love and blessings
 Debbie
